VOL. XI. THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1915. No. 14

MIDDLEBURY 14— N. H. STATE 0.

Middlebury Scores Her First Football Victory of Season over New Hampshire State.

Middlebury outplayed the New Hampshire team, Saturday, October 23, and gained a well deserved victory by the score of 14-0. It was the second home game of the season and the men showed up to better advantage than they have in any previous attempt.

There was better team work and the attack was more varied than has been the case in the previous games. The opponent's plays were well sized up and each man was generally in the right place at the right time, consequently, New Hampshire was unable to gain consistently and was forced to play a defensive game the greater portion of the time.

A new formation, in which the line played a yard back and shifted just before ball was snapped, seemed to work with good effect. The center also faced his own man in this formation, so that his passes were faster and surer, thus enabling the backfield to get a good start. Good gains were made by using the delayed pass, but the forward pass did not meet with much success on either side.

Middlebury started off with a rush, when Lang received the kick-off on his own 45 yard line. From this point, Lamere, Lynch and Keefe bucked the line for substantial gains until finally Lamere went outside tackle for the first touchdown. This was the best and by far the most consistent work done during the game. It showed the real power of the team with each man doing his share of the work. Condit kicked an easy goal.

Middlebury kicked off to Nevers who was nailed by Bower on his 15 yard line. New Hampshire could not gain through the line and lost the ball on her 30 yard line. On the first play, Bower made a pretty run around end but fumbled when tackled, New Hampshire could gain only one first down, as Lang made a good catch of a forward pass, giving Middlebury the ball on her opponent's 40 yard line. Bower varied his attack and opened up more, with the result that Keefe was able to go over for another score. Condit kicked the goal bringing the score up to 14-0.

New Hampshire received the kick-off and rushed the ball to the middle of the field. Here a successful forward pass gave them a first down on Middlebury's 15 yard line, just as the whistle blew for the end of the half.

New Hampshire opened the second half by rushing the ball to Middlebury's 20 yard line, where Hard recovered a fumble. Two line plays carried the ball to the 35 yard line, where a fumble gave New Hampshire another chance. She lacked the necessary punch to score and Middlebury held for downs on her 12 yard line.

Condit then made the first punt of the game, booting the ball out of bounds on

GOVERNOR STEWART DEAD.

Middlebury College Loses Her Oldest Trustee and Oldest Living Graduate. College Attends Funeral.

On Friday afternoon, October 29th, ex-Governor John Wolcott Stewart, '46, the senior member of the Board of Trustees of Middlebury College, and since the death a year ago of Samuel Sterling Sherman, '38, the oldest living graduate of the college, passed quietly away at his beautiful home in this village. Governor Stewart was born in Middlebury, November 24, 1825, and was, therefore, in his 90th year. All his life he was a resident of Middlebury. He prepared for college in the Addison County Grammar School, as the local preparatory school was then called, was a student in college 1842-1846, and prepared for the profession of the law by studying with Hon. Horatio Seymour of this village.

Several weeks ago Governor Stewart was not at all well, but he regained his strength and for the last three weeks was quite himself again. He conversed with his friends in his usual vivacious manner and drove out every pleasant day. He had returned from a drive only a few minutes before the end came, sitting quietly in his chair in the library of his home.

Ex-Governor Stewart was elected Secretary of the Board of Trustees of of the college in 1851, which office he held until 1858, when he was made a trustee. His connection with the corporation extended over 61 years, and for 57 years he was a Fellow of the college. It is believed that this record has been surpassed in no other college or university of the United States.

As a member of the college corporation he exerted great influence upon the institution. As a resident of the village and familiar with affairs on the hill, his counsel in the meetings of the Board was always heard with attention. He took a deep personal interest in everything that pertained to Middlebury's welfare and was influential in securing the interest and support of a large number of valuable friends. As few men have been permitted to have a longer connection with the institution, few were able to render larger or more valuable service. It is safe to say that no interest was closer to the heart of Governer Stewart, outside of his own home, than the college which he served so long and faithfully.

Alumni will recall his eminent service to the State of Vermont and to the nation. He was seven times a member of the Vermont House of Representatives and four times its speaker. He was Governor of the state in 1870-72, the first Governor to be elected for the term of two years. He was four times elected to Congress from the first district of Vermont and was appointed to succeed the late Redfield Proctor as U. S. Senator. In the the councils of the state and of the nation he was distinguished for clear judgment and sound American views on all public questions.

CHARTER DAY OBSERVED

Annual Event held in McCullough Gymnasium.

The annual exercises in observance of Charter Day were held last evening in McCullough Gymnasium, with President Thomas presiding.

President Thomas opened the exercises with a brief introductory speech. after which he introduced Philip H. Ferguson, president of the Senior class, who read the charter from the original manuscript.

In a speech that paid a warm tribute to his predecessor, Doctor Thomas next introduced President-Emeritus Brainerd who gave an interesting talk on the early settlers of Middlebury and particularly vivid pictures of the more prominent among the founders of the college.

Dean Wright was next presented and he gave a very witty and scholarly talk upon the early huildings and activities of the college.

Professor McFarland was up to his usual standard and discoursed in his happiest vein upon his experiences and impressions of the military camp at Plattsburg.

The final speaker, Prof. Bonney was introduced as a freshman, with the Freshman class as his topic and delighted those present by his original method of handling it.

Refreshments, served by a committee from the Woman's College, completed the program, and a social time was enjoyed during which the new Middlebury color song, recently composed by Mrs. MacGilton, '15, was sung by the gathering, under the leadership of Dr. Cunningham.

MIDD. VS. M. A. C.

On Saturday Middlebury's blue jerseyed football warriors will face the strong Massachusetts Agricultural College eleven at Amhert in what will undoubtedly prove the hardest battle of the season. The "Aggies" were barely beaten by Harvard and only in the last few minutes of play. Middlebury will be without the services of Lang and Cowles., which will necessitate a shift in the line up for this contest. Coach Holmes is driving the men hard in preparation for the game.

Midd. Seconds vs. St. Michael's.

The Middlebury Second team, in charge of Assistant Manager Towne, will leave Saturday for Burlington, where they will mix it up with the St. Michael's College eleven. The final game for the Seconds will be played November 13th with the St. Peter's team of Rutland.

MIDDLEBURY 6 - RENSSELAER 0

Rensselaer Holds Middlebury to a low Score in a Hard Fought Game.

Last Saturday the Middlebury football waraiors journeyed to Troy and brought back the scalp of the Rensselaer aggregation. The game was no runaway, as many expected it would be, considering the high scores R. P. I's opponents had rolled up in the past few games. This was due in part to the fact that a large proportion of the R. P. I. team are unable to play the out of town games, so consequently a true line on the ability of the team was not obtained.

Middlebury had several opportunities to score, but fumbled at inopportune times. As usual Bower was the star of the game and his 40-yard run and subsequent plunges were directly responsible for the only score of the game.

The victory was a costly one for Middlebury, as Lang and Cowles each received shoulder injuries that will keep them out of the game the rest of the season. Cowles has not been in the game much this year on account of injuries but Lang's loss will be especially felt as he put more fight into the team than any man on the squad and is himself one of the hardest players.

Good will probably take Cowles' place at end, and during the time he was in at Troy showed that he is capable of filling it satisfactorily. Hawks, may be put in at center although the chances are that Condit will move from tackle to center, leaving his position to be filled by Parker, Canty or B. Lamere.

Banshee Party.

Friday evening, October 22, the Banshees entertained in the A X house, chaperoned by Professor and Mrs. Cady. The house was decorated with numerous grinning faces cut from pumpkins, and witches and goblins peeped in at the windows. The guests tried their skill in carrying peanuts between toothpicks, in picking candies out of flour with their teeth, without powdering their chins, and reading their fortunes from mystic symbols. After refreshments which were pronounced quite satisfactory, Professor Cady read a story and the party broke up.

EDITORIAL.

With the passing of Governor John Wolcott Stewart, the students of Middlebury College have lost of one their kindliest of friends; the college one of its most venerable and honored graduates; the State of Vermont its "grand old man" as he was affectionately hailed by all. Typical of the old school of keen visioned, honest hearted, loyal New Englanders, Governor Stewart climbed the heights to state and national honors, carrying with him an unfaltering affection for his Alma Mater. Those who knew the force of his lovable personality, who felt the spell of his charming oratory, or the point of his gentle humor, will lament the end of a life that has been long and eminently useful in the service of college, state and nation.

Mention was made in a previous issue of THE CAMPUS relative to the opportunity which Middlebury is afforded by its geographical location for an Outing club. THE CAMPUS takes this opportunity of again bringing it to the attention of the student body. We believe that no institution in New England—not excepting Dartmouth, whose Outing club activities have brought widespread advertising to the New Hampshire college—is more ideally situated for such activities. Nestled among the mountains, we have the most picturesque of country. We have hills and valleys, mountains and streams, usually an abundance of snow and certainly a sufficiently low temperature to insure presence of ice for a considerable period.

At the conclusion of the football season there follows a lull in sports, the monotony of which is broken only by the inter-class basket ball series. Why should we not have an Outing club, with regularly scheduled trips, on snow shoes or skis, in so far as weather will permit, into the environs of Middlebury? Would it not be possible to even organize for an Outing club, something along the lines of that conducted by the Dartmouth club with inter-class hockey matches, ski races, ski jumping and snow shoe races?

We need not present arguments regarding the advantages of such out-of-door exercise, nor of desirable advertising that might come to our college. The success of the Dartmouth club, of which you are all familiar, is argument enough. Rather would we point to the possibilities and desirability of such an organization and suggest that some one get busy now, while there is time to stir up enthusiasm, and make plans for a beginning, if only in a small way. Let's talk it up and then let's have a club that will advertise the charming possibilities of Middlebury and the Vermont winter months!

To what extent is it justifiable for the college students to attend the Movies? We do not intend to answer this question definitely, but let us make a few suggestions.

First as to the amount of time spent at the Movies. It usually means the sacrificing of a whole evening's time and often it is more than one evening a week. If the student has this time to spare why does he or she not put it to better advantage than sitting in the closely crowded, poorly ventilated movie place?

Secondly, there is the financial side of the question which in the course of a year may mean quite a little to those people who supply the funds from home and perhaps thereby deprive themselves of many more useful things.

Then there is the question of the real value of the pictures themselves. With a few exceptions they are merely entertaining with now and then one that is disgusting. Of course there are some good plays that are really worth seeing, some real instructive among the Pathe pictures and a well staged classic production has a great amount of value.

The argument that it is the only place to go has some truth in it, but how many of us can not find enough in the college life, which is full of both pleasure and worth to occupy our time if we really hunt for it?

This does not suggest by any means that the Movies should be avoided, for there are often things presented that have a great deal of value, but it is hardly wise for the students to spend nearly every spare evening in a way that is absolutely worthless except possibly to furnish a little passing amusement?

Wright Heads Debating Union.

At a meeting of the Debating Union held Monday noon in the chapel, Charles H. Wright, '16, was elected president of the Union to succeed J. J. Floyd, '16, who had resigned. A business session followed during which plans of the union for the coming season were discussed. Preparations were started for the annual debate with U. V. M., and the advisability of holding a second debate with some other college was considered. Treasurer Ottman reported the union to be in good condition financially.

Why Not a Woman's Suffrage Club in Middlebury?

One of the drawbacks of a country college is the remoteness from centers where active affairs are happening and being discussed. It is poetic to be in a college "nestled among the green hills." But it is not only that. We all agree that we can live better, work better and grow better here. But there is a danger of letting these green hills form the boundaries of all that. It is easy to form the habit of reading the sporting columns only of the daily newspaper. This especially so of the college women.

A year or so ago two clubs were formed on the Hill—a suffrage club and an anti-Suffrage one. It was more than half in fun. No one considered it a serious thing. Yet when the question was fairly put more than three-quarters of the girls declared for suffrage. But what was born as a joke died as one and both clubs were soon forgotten.

Since then great strides have been made in the movement. Anti-suffrage clubs will soon be driven out of existence because there will be found no State where women do not have a voice in affairs. This question was a very live one in the preceding legislature of this most conservative of States. It is a live question everywhere.

It is not the case of non-belief here in the propriety and efficacy of women's votes. It is not that the Midd. girls are not as bright and keen as those in other colleges. And it is not, as is so often said, that the women in co-ed colleges lack originality and take all their views of life from the other half of the college. It is simply that the subject is lying dormant.

Why not wake up, Middlebury girls, to what is going on outside of your college and your fraternity? Form a wide-awake practical club where you can study together current affairs and needs of the time! Ally yourselves with these clubs in the great movement! And when Woman's Suffrage comes in your State, if it has not already come, be able to feel that you have had some part in the movement.

Sunday Chapel.

The student body was detained after chapel Saturday morning by Professor Wright for the purpose of explaining the action taken by the administration committee in regard to the Sunday chapel service. He said that the hour had been changed from five to four o'clock for the accommodation of the student choir which has been organized to aid in the service. He also explained that this matter had evidently been misunderstood by certain students and took occasion to advise against being too hasty in getting opinions of questionable veracity into print.

The affair has now been settled in a manner satisfactory to all parties concerned. Arrangements have been made whereby the choir will be able to be present at five o'clock and, in accordance witb the general sentiment as expressed by a vote of the student body, the service has been set once more at that hour.

COMMUNICATIONS

Excellent Fields for Choice.

Shall a college undergraduate wait until he or she has finished the course before a definite profession has been chosen? Many graduate in the same frame of mind that they enter, not knowing what they shall do after they leave the college halls. It is fine to study and gain an education, especially if it is cultural, but does it prepare one for life in a practical way? Does it lead into any special profession? Is it not a good thing for a student to know what to aim for; to know what one is fitted for?

Some go out and teach for a while and then take up a profession. Why harm the pupils in that way, and lose two or three years? It would save energy and time to be more definite.

This is called the age of specialization. One must enter into a certain field and prepare for it as effectively as possible. Three fields of service are open to the college graduate, which are demanding a great deal of their attention, because of their vital importance to the great problems before the century. Here are opportunities to develope latent capacities for leadership.

The first is that of social service. This is to be found in work of charity organizations, and social settlements. Economic problems are being solved by the workers and the opportunities to do constructive work is before them continually. They are building up impoverished sections of our great cities. In the Italian settlement where I am living, recreational activities are given to the young people, who would otherwise be spending a good part of the day in the street. The Young Men's or Young Women's Christian Associations offer similar opportunities as college, city, and rural secretaryships in the organizations.

The mission fields are calling many. Through the student volunteer movement which is entering into all our universities and colleges, the college men and women are taking this up as a field in which they can receive experience, travel, and a broader outlook upon life as well as the greater incentive in missionary work. Some teach in colleges, others stay for a term of years in the other departments, which are varied, being educational and devotional as well as pastoral.

A third profession is that of the ministry. It is a man's job, and only the manliest can carry it on. Present conditions prophesy greater activity in christian service than ever before. Middlebury has had its share in supplying its ranks in the first century of its existence, what the second will be depends on its graduates of the present and future generations. A man may be a pastor, a director of religious education, or a field missionary, a woman can take up the work of a pastor's assistant.

These are opportunities, yet there are many, who can, if they will, find some definite field of work. This is the challenge of the church. Can you answer it?

CHANGES IN ATHLETIC BOARD.

Constitutional Amendments Adopted.

At a meeting of the Men's Athletic Association held Monday morning after chapel, an amendment to the constitution of the association was adopted, providing for a change in the number of members of the Athletic Board from 15 to 18, the board to be hereafter constituted as follows:

The president of Middlebury College, ex-officio, five members of the faculty, six alumni, not members of the faculty, the managers respectively of the football, base ball, track and tennis teams and the president and secretary of the Student Athletic Association. The new members by the above change are as follows one member of the faculty, one alumnus not a member of the faculty and the tennis manager.

The following by-law was added to the Constitution: "All men are entitled to their 'M' in football provided that they have played three full games, or five halves, or twelve quarters, and, in addition to the above requirement, they must have participated in the U. V. M. game. Any player may be considered eligible, who in the opinion of the coach and captain, could and would have played, had it not been for injuries or his condition, the same having been brought about by previous work in the above mentioned sport.

Plans For Track Athletics.

Manager Paulsen of the Track Department has his plans for spring activities well under way and is able at this time to announce a tentative schedule that promises to outdo even that of last year. The opening meet will be with Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, when the latter visits Middlebury on April 29th. U. V. M. comes to Middlebury for a return meet during Junior week, while St. Lawrence will measure strides with the blue and white a week later at Canton, N. Y.

Negotions are under way for meets with New York University and Brown, all of which will be preparatory to sending the team to the New England Intercollegiates in May.

Middlebury's first intercollegiate cross country run has been scheduled for November 20th with U. V. M. and will be run previous to the annual foot ball game, finishing on the track at Porter Field. The schedule to date follows :

November 20, U. V. M., cross country at Middlebury.

April 31, R. P. I. at Middlebury.

May 6, U. V. M. at Middlebury.

May 13, St. Lawrence at Canton, N. Y.

May 21, 22, New England Intercollegiates.

Cross-County.

Saturday, October 23, was the date of the hill and dale race which again proved the ability of the athletes in the entering class. Owing to the raw day, perhaps, but three men made the run. The course which led out Pleasant street beyond and around Chipman Hill and back by way of Washington street was a little over four miles long. At the first turn beyond Chipman Hill Jones led by two minutes. This lead was increased to over five minutes at the finish or nearly one mile, Cullen, '19, was second and Mitchell, '17, was a quarter of a mile in the rear of Cullen. The winners' time was about 23 minutes.

the 30 yard line. New Hampshire completed a forward pass on the 10 yard line but a 15 yard penalty placed the ball back on the 25 yard line. Lamere caught a forward pass on his own 18 yard line but New Hampshire immediately regained possession of the ball when Bower fumbled on an attempted end run.

Brackett threw a forward pass outside so Middlebury received the ball on her 30 yard line. After several line bucks, Lynch caught a pass from Bower and was not downed until he reached the New Hampshire 30 yard line. Here the visitor's line held for downs and Bennett punted to the center of the field as the final whistle sounded.

The Glee Club.

Increased interest in the Middlebury College Glee Club under the leadership of Professor Cunningham is evidenced by the large attendance at rehearsals, which are held every Thursday evening in the Hemicycle. An average attendance of about forty has been made so far this year.

Early in the season Dr. Cunningham briefly explained President Thomas' interest in the organization, and his wish that a good club might be formed this year; one that would make the name of Middlebury College better known in musical fields. Dr. Cunningham outlined his idea of a regular program for each performance to be given during the coming season. with one or two numbers by the Mandolin Club, and the remainder of the program composed of solos, quartet selections and numbers by the whole club.

Mrs. MacGilton has composed two college songs, and that they are bound to be popular is evidenced by the spirit with which the club sings them. One song is a "Color Song," and the other is entitled "Alma Mater".

There is a good possibility for several extended trips this year, and it is the ambition of all concerned that trips may be made to Rutland, Brattleboro and other towns in the southern section of the State, and that U. V. M.'s compliment may be returned by a really good performance in Burlington.

Tuesday Evening Club.

At the last meeting of the Tuesday Evening Club, Prof. Cady was present and read several very amusing prose selections.

GOVERNOR STEWART DEAD.

Governor Stewart was a Chi Psi, one of the charter members of the Middlebury chapter. He was also a member of Phi Beta Kappa. The college conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws upon him in 1876.

The funeral services were held in the Congregational church Sunday afternoon and were conducted by ex-President Brainerd, assisted by President Thomas and Rev. A. A. Lancaster. The faculty and students of the college attended in a body and the college chapel service for the day was omitted. There was a large attendance of men eminent in Vermont, including U. S. Senators Dillingham and Page, Gov. Charles W. Gates, ex-Gov. E. J. Ormsbee, ex-Gov. John A. Mead, Hon. F. C. Partridge, State Treasurer Walter F. Scott, Hon. Charles P. Smith, and many others.

Nu of Sigma Kappa Initiation.

Nu of Sigma Kappa held its initiation service and banquet Saturday evening, October 30th at the sorority rooms. The initiates were Miss Mildred H. Jones and Miss E. Louise Smeallie. The following guests were present : Miss Pauline Helms of the New York School of Philanthrophy, Miss Adelaide Ross of West Rutland, Miss Harriet Grandy of Rutland, Vt., and Miss Florence Buxton of Jericho, Vt.

Dance.

A dance was held in the college gymnasium, Saturday evening, October 23d. The usual good crowd was present. Vittum's orchestra furnished music. The Y. W. C. A. sold punch, the excellence of which was proved by the fact that it had all vanished by the middle of the evening. Prof. and Mrs. Cunningham, Prof. and Mrs. Swett and Miss Ross were patrons and patronesses.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

Miss Margaret Flenniker, student secretary for the Northeastern field, visited Middlebury Y. W. C. A., Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, October 26th and 27th. The various departments of the Y. W. C. A. work here received much help and encouragement from her. Miss Flenniker's visits are always a source of great pleasure, especially to the girls who have met her at Silver Bay.

Musigahe Club Elects Officers.

At a meeting of the Musigahe Club held in the Hemicycle, Thursday, October 21, the following officers were elected; Leader, Marguerite Jones, '18; business manager, Helen Newton, '18; assistant business manager, Dorothy Nash, '19.

"JOAKS."

Dartley (to fair Co-ed, who is searching for the watch which she had left in the Chemical Lab.) "Here it is, I have- - - have kept it safe near my heart."

Heard on the grand stand:

Junior girl (observing Joe Calvi watching the game from the side lines,) "Why, there's Joe Calvi, I didn't know he attended the games."

Freshman girl (looking for Joe and seeing Prof. Abbott ascending the steps,) "O, is that Prof. Calvi? I never knew he looked like that."

Place—Professor Burrage's Greek class.

Situation: Student in rear row translating with aid of "trot" and getting away strong until Professor B. discovers situation.

Professor Burrage: "Will the Knight in the rear kindly ride forward and dismount?" [Laughter.]

Disgusted father (reading report of his son's standing)—See here! Your marks are much lower than they were before Christmas!

Son: Yes, Pop, but, you know, everything is marked down after the holidays.—Yale Record.

How to Get Help at the Library.

The librarian and assistants are here to help the students. Ask them for help freely.

After having had the library instruction that is given to all new students, apply it each time that you come to the library.

If you don't find what you need within a reasonable time, ask for help.

If you don't find what you need within a reasonable time after the first asking, ask again of the same librarian.

When a librarian begins to help you, stay with her and observe her work so that you can do it yourself next time.
